

THE THING FROM THE LAKE

The Thing from the Lake

by Eleanor M. Ingram (1886-1921)

To get away from city life periodically, New Yorker Roger Locke purchases an abandoned farmhouse in rural Connecticut, and sets about fixing up the place. Immediately however, a mysterious unseen woman begins giving him warnings to leave the house at once. Soon he begins hearing strange and ominous sounds emanating from the tiny lake at the back of the house, coupled with a permeation of sickly odors. An evil presence begins to visit him during the late-night witching hours, challenging him to a battle of wits from which there can be only one victor. Is his mysterious female visitor there to help and encourage him to flee from the house, or is she working in tandem with The Thing From the Lake? In a gripping, occasionally frightening tale, Ms. Ingram weaves a tale that will leave the reader guessing at every turn.

Total running time: 7:35:25

Read by Roger Melin

Cover design by Kathryn Delaney
Photograph by Wing-Chi Poon

INGRAM

THE THING FROM THE LAKE

INGRAM